

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                                                          |       |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Foreword. . . . .                                                                                                                                                        | ix    |
| Translator's Note . . . . .                                                                                                                                              | .xiii |
|                                                                                                                                                                          |       |
| Devotion 1: Of the Feast Which the Christian Church Celebrates YearlyAs an Eternal Remembrance of the Joyous Resurrectionof Our Dear Lord Jesus Christ . . . . . | 1     |
| Devotion 2: What the Resurrection Is, Rightly Described,or: Of the Awakener of Christ. . . . .                                                                       | 5     |
| Devotion 3: What the Resurrection of Jesus Christ Is, Properly Described,or: Concerning the Fruit and Benefit of the Resurrection . . . . .                          | 10    |
| Devotion 4: The Women Go to the Tomb to Anoint Christ . . . . .                                                                                                          | 15    |
| Devotion 5: Christ Rises in Great Power and Glory. . . . .                                                                                                               | 20    |
| Devotion 6: The Women Find the Stone Rolled Away and the Tomb Empty. . . . .                                                                                             | 25    |
| Devotion 7: The Angels Announce to the Women the Resurrection of Christ . . . . .                                                                                        | 29    |
| Devotion 8: The Women Believe and Proclaim the Resurrection of Christ. . . . .                                                                                           | 34    |
| Devotion 9: Troubled by Mary Magdalene's Word, Peter and JohnRun to the Sepulcher . . . . .                                                                          | 39    |
| Devotion 10: Mary Magdalene Seeks Christ with Tears . . . . .                                                                                                            | 44    |
| Devotion 11: Christ Reveals Himself as the Risen One to Mary Magdalene First . . . . .                                                                                   | 49    |
| Devotion 12: Christ Appears to the Other Women after the Angel of the LordAnnounces to Them the Lord's Resurrection a Second Time. . . . .                           | 55    |
| Devotion 13: With Falsehood the Chief Priests Try to Suppress the Newsof the Lord's Resurrection . . . . .                                                           | 62    |

|                                                                                                                                                                  |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Devotion 14: The Risen Jesus Appears Unknown to the Two DisciplesWalking to Emmaus . . . . .                                                                 | 67  |
| Devotion 15: Christ Instructs the Emmaus Disciples concerning His ResurrectionSo That They Believe before They See. . . . .                                  | 72  |
| Devotion 16: Christ Reveals Himself to the Emmaus DisciplesWho through His Word Now Believe in the Resurrection . . . . .                                    | 78  |
| Devotion 17: Christ Appears in the Midst of the Gathered Disciplesand Brings Them His Peace . . . . .                                                        | 83  |
| Devotion 18: Christ Shows the Disciples His Hands and Feetand Makes Them Glad in and Certain of His Resurrection. . . . .                                    | 89  |
| Devotion 19: Christ Proves His Resurrection to the Gathered Disciplesfrom His Earlier Sayings, and Opens to Them the Understandingof Scripture . . . . . | 95  |
| Devotion 20: Christ Institutes the Office of the Keys . . . . .                                                                                                  | 101 |
| Devotion 21: Thomas Alone Still Remains Unbelieving . . . . .                                                                                                    | 106 |
| Devotion 22: The Great Shepherd of the Sheep, Risen from the Dead,Goes after Lost Thomas. . . . .                                                            | 111 |
| Devotion 23: Thomas Believes and Confesses . . . . .                                                                                                             | 116 |
| Devotion 24: Jesus Appears in Galilee First to Seven Disciplesat the Sea of Tiberias . . . . .                                                               | 120 |
| Devotion 25: Christ Is Known in the Miraculous Catch of Fishesand the Prepared Meal . . . . .                                                                | 126 |
| Devotion 26: Jesus Asks Peter about His Love and Commits to Himthe Pastoral Office. . . . .                                                                  | 130 |
| Devotion 27: Peter Is Unable to Follow the Lord's Leading. . . . .                                                                                               | 137 |
| Devotion 28: Christ Appears to a Great Multitude of Believerson a Mountain in Galilee. . . . .                                                               | 142 |
| Devotion 29: Christ, to Propagate His Kingdom, Tells the Apostles to Go intoAll the World and to Preach the Gospel to Every Creature. . . . .                | 147 |
| Devotion 30: Christ Institutes Holy Baptism for All Nations. . . . .                                                                                             | 154 |

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                   |     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Devotion 31: Christ Equips the Apostles with Miraculous Gifts forTheir Authentication . . . . .                               | 161 |
| Devotion 32: Christ Promises His Constant Gracious Presence . . . . .                                                             | 168 |
| Devotion 33: The Joyful Season of the Forty Days of Easter . . . . .                                                              | 174 |
| Devotion 34: Christ Prepares for His Ascension and Bids the DisciplesWait for the Imminent Coming of the Holy Ghost . . . . . | 181 |
| Devotion 35: Christ Instructs His Weak Disciples Yet Again ConcerningHis Kingdom and Their Office. . . . .                    | 186 |
| Devotion 36: Christ, Imparting a Blessing, Ascends into Heaven . . . . .                                                          | 192 |
| Devotion 37: Christ Sits on the Right Hand of God. . . . .                                                                        | 197 |
| Devotion 38: The Angels' Account of Christ's Ascension. . . . .                                                                   | 202 |
| Devotion 39: The Disciples Return with Joy from the Mount of Olives. . . . .                                                      | 208 |
| Devotion 40: The Disciples Return to Jerusalem and Await the Sendingof the Holy Ghost . . . . .                               | 213 |
| Index of Hymns & Sources. . . . .                                                                                                 | 221 |
| Index of Hymn Stanzas Drawn Strictly from the St. Louis Hymnal . . . . .                                                          | 225 |
| Melody Appendix. . . . .                                                                                                          | 227 |